

Libelle: Your Specialist for Disaster-Recovery and High Availability Solutions

Libelle is an established solution provider for high-availability and disaster recovery located in Stuttgart, Germany. Over 300 customers worldwide trust in the intelligent Libelle software solutions to protect and recover their business-critical data.

Libelle customers benefit from our excellent one-stop service as support, sales, and software development are all located in Stuttgart.

Due to its broad distribution partner network, Libelle is well positioned in several countries. Over 1,000 installations demonstrate Libelle's experience and expertise.

Further, Libelle solutions are supplemented by a great service portfolio, ranging from the design and implementation of holistic HA and DR concepts to 24/7 support.

Libelle is partnering with the leading hardware and software vendors. Those Partners, as well as other recognised System Integrators and Consulting Companies integrate the Libelle Products into their own Solution architecture. Marketing and sales of the solutions occur through a wide network of partnerships.

Years of experience and competence and our comprehensive portfolio of solutions and services has given Libelle the reputation that we value and enjoy today.